The minutes of the last regular meeting, including that of the Adjourned meeting, were read, and on Page 187, a correction was made substituting the name of Trustee Grist for that of Trustee Jackson as having moved the adoption of Resolution Number 957. With this correction, the minutes were approved.

A communication was read from V. Price Brown requesting permission to remove shade trees from the parkway in front of his property on Louise street. On motion of Trustee Grist, referred to the City Manager.

Trustee Jackson made a motion, which was adopted, that when the Board adjourned, it be to meet at 7 o'clock p. m., December 28th.

The City Attorney reported that in regard to the collection from the Southern California Gas Company of two per cent. of their gross earnings for the year, which matter had been referred to him at the last meeting; he had been successful in collecting this amount, viz: $1287.48, which he turned over to the City Clerk, this being the sum due from September 2, 1916 to December 2, 1917.

The Board adjourned at 8:40 p. m.

LIBRARY ENTERTAINS

MORE THAN 100 CHILDREN ENJOY STORY HOUR AND VISIT FROM SANTA CLAUS

The "Story Hour" at the Glendale Library was an exceedingly pretty and delightful affair which was enjoyed by about one hundred children. It was in many respects the most successful holiday treat of its kind that the Library has ever given the little folks of Glendale.

The first story, which was about "Mrs. Santa Claus," was told by Miss Maude Howell, kindergarten teacher in the Avenue Eighteen School, Los Angeles. She told it in a very interesting way and just as she finished, Santa Claus came up the stairway, heralded by his jingling bells. Some of the tiniest tots were at first a little frightened but gained confidence when their more experienced brothers and sisters began to tell Santa just what they wanted for Christmas. He was assured that all the children had been good and then he told them stories, first "The Golden Cobweb," then the "Christmas Star." After this entertainment, Santa gave each child a candy cane. Little baby Reece reciprocated by giving Santa Claus a beautiful bouquet, and Miss Howell was similarly remembered with violets. Then, after bidding Santa Claus a lingering and affectionate goodbye, the children dispersed.

Mrs. J. C. Danford, the Librarian, feels that too much cannot be said of Santa Claus in the person of Miss Alice Frank who entered thoroughly into the spirit of the occasion and who did everything in her power to make the Story Hour a success.

A very handsome Christmas tree was donated by W. W. McElroy, a member of the Library Board, and Mrs. Freeman Kelly, another member, prepared it for use, a service which was greatly appreciated.

CAMPAIGN TO WORRY

There seems to be a persistent campaign on to worry the families of boys in the training camps and to discredit the government. Mothers are told that these boys are ill fed and not sufficiently clad, that they have to buy their own sugar and butter and that many are dying of homesickness or taking their own lives. Of course these stories are given the die by the boys themselves, when they come home on furlough, looking so strong and healthy and well fed, but such reports keep mothers, especially, in suspense and cause needless worry. Is this a campaign engineered by German sympathizers, also?

GLENDALE W. C. T. U.

CAMP LEWIS COMFORTS

MR. AND MRS. EMERY REPORT ON WHAT THEY SAW DURING TOUR OF INSPECTION

Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery returned Saturday evening from Camp Lewis whither they went to visit their son, Sergeant Owen C. Emery. They found him looking, feeling and doing finely. He was given a special pass and so was able to meet them at Tacoma early Saturday morning. They had intended to visit the big show at Camp Lewis that day, but as there was a pouring rain, they remained at the hotel instead and visited there with their son. The following day Sergeant Emery received a special pass to Seattle and he and his parents spent Sunday there, going by boat up the Sound. He was able to spend the evening with them but returned that night to Camp Lewis.

Sergeant Lunt had expected to entertain Mr. and Mrs. Emery Monday at the Barracks, furnishing them with mess kits and having them eat with the soldiers, but about that time the Barracks were quarantined for measles, and Sergeant Emery had to go into quarantine also. Monday morning, nothing daunted, Mr. and Mrs. Emery carried out to camp a box of jellies for the soldiers and delivered them to the quarantine guard who carried them into the barracks. When he returned he was accompanied by Captain Brunton, of Sergeant Emery's company, who introduced himself and with whom they had a nice visit; he spoke in the highest terms of their son. The captain detailed an orderly to conduct them to the regular drill of the Company, which was at "rest" when they arrived, so they had an opportunity to shake hands with Hill McGillis, whom they found looking fine. Captain Brunton then sent a Sergeant to relieve Sergeant Emery so he could join his parents. They visited with him for a short time and then bade him goodbye. All the companies which have been quarantined for measles drill by themselves on a certain part of the parade ground. Had conditions been different they would have entertained their son and a number of the Glendale boys at dinner at the Hostess House, but it was raining and the grounds were covered with large puddles of water so they visited the Hostess House and the Y. M. C. A. only.

The Y. W. C. A. Hostess House is built near the entrance to the camp. In the center of the building is a large living room the floors of which are carpeted with rugs, there are many rockers, couches and easy chairs in it, a baby grand piano, a Victrola and a large fireplace which heats the room comfortably. There is also an information desk with a lady attendant.

One of the wings of the house is occupied by the dining room and kitchen. The dining room is nicely furnished with small tables and chairs and there meals are served,

EARLY PLANTING

Tom Berry, of 537 Orange, whose big gray team never refuses the hardest pull and who has probably plowed and harrowed more ground than any other man in Glendale, advises against breaking of the ground until after it rains. Weeds and grass will make no further growth while it stays dry and too many clods result from plowing ground in its present condition. Tom says he has better success in January planting of potatoes when he covers the seed lightly. Others recommend deep planting for early crop. Most of the vacant lots in Glendale will be planted to some kind of a crop, Tom thinks, potatoes predominating. One man who recently came out here from Idaho, has already plowed many lots to plant in potatoes and is securing others. He has over $900 worth of seed bought already we are told.

"THE OTHER WISE MAN"

Dr. Henry Van Dyke's great masterpiece, "The Other Wise Man" told in such simple and attractive style, will be given in the Lutheran Church at 7:30 this coming Sunday evening. It will be most forcibly illustrated by some of the most beautiful and highly colored pictures ever placed on canvas. After having been used by nearly a dozen different parties in Los Angeles this Christmas season, the pastor most fortunately secured this set of pictures, a few minutes after it was returned to the owners. These beautiful pictures and two finely illustrated hymns will be given to the public this coming Sunday night. This is your chance parents to have your children see something worth while, helpful and leaving a good impress. This is your opportunity. Everybody most cordially welcome.

DRAFT REGULATIONS

GEN. CROWDER ANNOUNCES THAT CALL WILL SOON BE MADE FOR HIGHLY SPECIALIZED WORKERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 28.—The next draft call, including the deferred percentage of the first quota, will be made up under the questionnaire classification, Gen. Crowder announced. There will be no further formal call. This means that the men included in the 3 per cent of the first quota, most of whom are now in camp, will enjoy the benefits of classification. Men selected under the old regulations will continue to go, however, when needed to make up deficiencies in cails already made. Gen. Crowder announced that there will be a call very soon for technical workers and highly specialized registrants.

ZEPPELIN PROGRAM A FAILURE

GERMANY HAS THIRTEEN IN SERVICE OUT OF FIFTY-THREE PLACED IN COMMISSION IN 1913

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES AFIELD, December 28.—Germany's Zeppelin program, announced with boastful pride in 1914, stands today a dreary failure, according to figures available by the United Press.

Of 53 Zeppelins put in commission in 1913, 35 have been totally destroyed, two were badly damaged and put permanently out of commission, two now missing were possibly destroyed, one was badly damaged and is temporarily out of commission. Thirteen remain in service, the ace which was detailed to the North Sea, two to the Baltic and others as school ships.

The raids over England, France and Belgium have cost Germany 17 Zeppelins.

McADOO HOLDS NINETY-MINUTE CONFERENCE WITH RAILROAD EXECUTIVES THIS MORNING

These were the sole officers announced following a ninety-minute conference between McAdoo and the executives, during which the railroads of the country quietly passed from private to federal control on the hour of twelve.

McAdoo plans to slice millions of uselessly spent dollars from the payroll of the United States railroads.

RED CROSS PROGRAM

REV. T. F. McCREA SPEAKS ON THE SPIRIT OF THE BOYS OF 1917

A delightful program was presented at the Red Cross concert given Thursday evening at the First Methodist church in Glendale. A good audience gathered to enjoy it.

An organ solo by A. E. Ricksecker furnished the opening number, an Overture Voluntary by Battman, beautifully interpreted, which put the audience in a mood to enjoy the balance of the program.

Number 2 was a vocal solo, by Mrs. J. A. Legge, "A Garden Song," which won warm applause from appreciative listeners.

Then little Shirley Chase recited about the Statue of Liberty and its impression upon the various nationalities, for an encore giving her clever impersonation of the little girl who "ain't goin' to cry no more," which as usual brought the house to her feet.

Madame Katharine Shank sang exquisitely two beautiful numbers from "The Coming of the King," the first "O, Jerusalem, Look About Thee," and second, the very lovely "Virgin's Lullaby" which completely melted the audience and evoked a storm of applause to which she graciously responded by repeating the lullaby.

A silver offering was then collected while Dr. Harrower explained that by reason of its exemption from taxation the church cannot be used for commercial purposes and therefore cannot be leased for entertainments for which an admission fee is charged, though a collection may be gathered.

He also reported with pride the high rank Glendale has won in the Red Cross drive for membership, stating that one out of every four of population is now a member; that the city has won the reputation of being one of the livest, most useful chapters in the Pacific Coast Division. The next Red Cross entertainment, he announced, would be given January 28th at the High School when seven splendid reels of moving picture films, war scenes from the French front, would be shown.

"The Holy City" was then sung with fine effect by Mr. Z. Des Plantes who has an excellent mellow tenor voice.

As a variation in the program, Mrs. Robert D. Jones recited "A Soldier of the Empire," a stirring story of French patriotism which was splendidly interpreted and which greatly moved the audience.

The promised talk by Rev. T. F. McCrea followed. "The Spirit of the Boys of 1917" was his theme which he introduced by saying that it could only be determined by comparing the soldier boys of this generation with those who have served our country in other crucial wars. The comparison has convinced him that the boys of 1917 have a deeper realization of what they are facing and of their individual responsibilities than any American soldiers who have preceded them.

He dwelt upon the unity which their mobilization and drilling has brought about, making them instantly responsive and ready. As an illus-

IN LOVE WITH CALIFORNIA

Fred Carpenter and wife and son Fred, of Windom, Minnesota, are visiting at Miss Minnette Sherman's, 1526 Vine street this week. The Carpenters are spending the winter, with ten other friends from Windom, in Long Beach. They are already convinced that Southern California is the place to winter, and wonder how they ever managed to stay away so long. They expect to spend at least nine months of each year in California hereafter, going back to Minnesota just long enough to get business affairs in shape. Two families formerly residents of Windom, now reside in Glendale, and they are old time friends of the Carpenters. C. A. Baxter and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dickman, of 526 W. Fifth street showed the Carpenters over the city in their auto Thursday and today Mrs. Dana Goss and Mrs. Howard Goss will entertain them at dinner at the latter's home, in celebration of the joint birthday of Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Howard Goss. Mr. Carpenter has extensive holdings in the way of stock farms near Windom. He is an uncle of Mrs. Sherman.

BIBLE CLASS LECTURE

Dr. J. H. Durfee, teacher of the Brotherhood Bible class of the Christian Sunday School will lecture to the class Sunday morning, December 30 on "The Great Central Truth of the Scriptures." It is hoped there will be a large attendance of the men to hear this lecture.

WILL DELAY BUILDING

WAR CONDITIONS MAY FORCE MR. AMBROSINI TO POSTPONE PLANS

Anthony Ambrosini and wife arrived in Glendale Thursday evening from St. Paul and are now cosily domiciled in their home at Fifth and Jackson streets where they will remain the balance of the winter. Shortly before leaving Glendale last spring Mr. Ambrosini purchased considerable real estate in the east section of Glendale including three corner blocks at Broadway and Glendale avenue exclusive of the one occupied by the Bank of Glendale.

It was Mr. Ambrosini's plan to make extensive improvements in this property. Among his plans was the building of a first-class six-story fireproof hotel on the northeast corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue to attract the high class tourist travel to Glendale. An up-to-date apartment house on the opposite corner was also among his plans which will be somewhat held in abeyance for the present by war conditions.

In February Mr. Ambrosini intends to install the pipe organ in the Presbyterian church which he gives to the church as a memorial to his late wife.

During the summer just past Mr. Ambrosini has been very busy supervising the building of an enormous community mausoleum in Forest cemetery, St. Paul, which is his property. This is a granite structure, lined with white marble and contains space for 1640 bodies. A chapel with large pipe organ occupies one corner of the structure which is to cost $200,000.

In an interview with Mr. Ambrosini this morning he stated he is not ready to say to what extent his building operations will develop here this winter.

APPEALS ARE REFERRED

MEDICAL ADVISORY BOARD WILL RULE ON APPEALS FROM PHYSICAL CLASSIFICATION

The Board of Exemptions, located at the Chamber of Commerce, reports through its chairman that it is getting alone nicely with the work of classification, which is progressing about as fast as Questionnaires are received. No appeals from physical classifications will be heard by this board or allowed by this board until after the registrant has been physically examined, and then the appeal will go to the Medical Advisory Board in Los Angeles. No order has yet been received for this board to proceed with physical examinations, but it is expecting to get such an order by every mail, though it may be delayed for some time.

Attorneys Mackay and Flint were assisted Thursday night in the work of instructing registrants by Attorneys Mattison B. Jones, member of the board, Frederick Baker, Oliver Clark, H. P. Goodwin and Earle Daniels. Mr. Daniels is also assisting today.

THAT SAFETY ZONE

Plates have been put down along both sides of the P. E. tracks on Brand boulevard making an enclosed space extending from where the south bound cars stop regularly, just north of Broadway, down to where the Broadway tracks branch off. This gives a space six feet wide on either side of the tracks upon which vehicles must not encroach while a car is standing on the tracks either taking on or discharging passengers. When no car is standing within this zone vehicles may cross or pass thereon.

NINE YEARS' SECRETARYSHIP

Mrs. F. Booth, who has just resigned the secretaryship of Pacific Chapter, Los Angeles, Order of the Eastern Star, after serving nine years without missing a single meeting during that time, was presented by the past Nine Worthy Past Matrons with a beautiful solid silver cake stand for her faithful services. Mr. and Mrs. F. Booth hope in the near future to affiliate with Glen Eyrie Chapter of Glendale.

BAD FRACTURE

E. L. Osborn who with his wife and grandchild recently motored to Glendale from their home in Montrose, Colorado, and engaged rooms at Mrs. Sophia Porter's, 821 W. Fifth street, was cranking his Ford Thursday morning when it back fired, the handle striking his right wrist and causing a compound fracture. Though a very painful hurt, Mr. Osborn is doing well, but it will be many weeks before he can use his right arm.

AIRPLANES AFTER THE WAR

No one knows how far the commercial development of the airplane would have gone by now if the genius of inventors and builders had not, perforce, been concentrated for several years almost exclusively on military flying. Some notion of what might have been done on the line may be had, however, from the instances of uses to which the airplane has been incidentally put as a carrier, through necessities created by war conditions. For example, the Italians send supplies to Sardinia and the French to Corcisca, by air to escape the U-boat peril. Flights of machines carrying not only ten to twenty occupants, but their luggage, from London to Rome, afford an idea of what the possibilities are for passenger traffic by air when men are turned away from destructive to constructive efforts in aviation. United States government has already begun to look ahead upon this problem through the eyes of a special committee on aerial transport, which will supersede the committee on aerial mail service, and have broader powers in the present and future application of aircraft to civil purposes. Recently it was made known that aerial mail routes to islands off the American coasts would be established. But foresight for the employment when peace dawns of the great fleet of airplanes and the large body of aviators who are training for war work must be more comprehensive. Experts in aeronautics have now been appointed to the newly created committee, which will concern itself wholly with plans for turning to commercial account the equipment and knowledge gained by military flying. If it does its work well, we shall see at the end of the war some rapid strides made in the development of the airplane as a common carrier, which has been arrested by the absorbing demand of the present struggle upon inventors, constructors and aviators.—Monrovia News.

WHEN EVERYBODY WILL WORK

"Within a generation everybody in the United States will be working for his living," said an economist a few years ago. And by everybody he meant women as well as men.

The prophecy seems likely to come true ahead of time. America's leisure class is small. After the war, if not sooner, it will disappear.

More than half the labor of the United States in all industries is of foreign birth. The percentage is 58 foreign, 42 native. Of the native one-fifth is negro. This leaves about one-third of the native white population engaged in manual labor.

What will this country do for cheap labor after the war?

The answer is it will do without cheap labor. But there will be plenty of men to work for living wages when our army of five million men comes home.

The day of cheap labor has passed and a day's work is going to mean a living in comfort for thrifty and industrious working men. Europe will need all its man power. If we don't import Chinese labor and thereby degrade American labor, the man who works by the day is going to be as honored a citizen as the professional man or merchant. And that will be a fine day for the United States—Capper's Weekly.

WET OR DRY WILL BE THE ISSUE

"Wet or dry" will be the main issue in the 1918 scramble for seats in the state senate and assembly in view of the action of Congress in passing the national prohibition amendment, which, to become effective, depends on ratification by 36 state legislatures.

In every city, town and hamlet in California it will mean a fight between the wet and dry interests, with each side battling to elect their chosen candidates. Twenty-one senators and the entire 80 assemblymen are to be elected.

Assurance of the battle was signalled in the announcement by Franklin Hichborn, one of the dry lieutenants, that the ratification of the national amendment will be made an issue in the 1919 legislature.

The drys will have better than an even break in the Senate provided the dry candidates hold their own in the election, but in the assembly the prohibitionists, politicians say, will have hard sledding if the 1919 body is anything like the 1917 house.

A summary of how the 19 holdover senators stand on the wet and dry question shows that the drys have a slight advantage. Nine of the senators are said to lean to the drys, eight are "wet" and two are classed as doubtful.

MEXICANS RETURNING TO OWN COUNTRY

The Mexicans are going back to Mexico. They firmly believe that Carranza will settle the land question by slicing up the vast estates and giving every man all the ground he can work. News that the "dividing up" process is now at last under way has trickled to the Mexicans in every part of Southern California and they are leaving for their old homes.

That is the opinion of Spanish interpreters and investigators in touch with the Mexican working classes in Southern California.

One of these, F. A. Solomon, says:

"The Mexicans tell me they are going back home where they can own their own land, raise their own food and not be bothered.

"That is the main reason why the beet fields are now short thousands of Mexican laborers this summer."

Labor agents, however, attribute the exodus of Mexicans and the labor shortage in the beet fields to the activities of the I. W. Ws.

COURSES FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Establishment of re-education courses in the state normal schools for soldiers and sailors disabled in the war as outlined by the federal government is heartily approved of by the state board of control and it is likely such courses will be installed.

Frank H. Ball, president of the normal school at Santa Barbara, already has applied to the state board of control for permission to establish the courses in that school.

The object of these courses is to give the disabled soldiers and sailors an opportunity to learn some trade that would be fitted to them in their condition so they would not become a burden on the community.

cafeteria style, which are well cooked and of good variety. In the front part of the other wing is the gentlemen's smoking room in which is another large fireplace, and which is well furnished with rugs, easy chairs, tables, desks, and an upright piano. In the rear of this wing is the ladies' rest room, which also has its fireplace, couches, easy chairs, etc. Opening out of this room is the nursery which is furnished with five baby beds, plenty of high chairs, little rockers, and a supply of toys. Here they found two lady attendants who care for the babies while their relatives visit the camp. The building is nicely curtained throughout and very homelike.

In the Y. M. C. A. Halls are two big rooms with a large stove in each. In one room, which is equipped with rockers and other comfortable chairs, there are shelves of books and tables covered with magazines. There is also a counter where candies and fruits are sold. The other room is lined with desks furnished with writing materials. There is a screen for moving pictures and benches enough to seat quite an audience.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery were to have started for home Tuesday the 18th on the Shasta limited at 10:50 a. m. but as that train had to be abandoned on account of a washout between Seattle and Tacoma, they secured reservations on a train scheduled to leave Tacoma at 1 p. m. It did not start however, until 4:30 p. m. and twelve hours later, or at 4 a. m., the tracks ahead of the train near Salem, Oregon, were washed out. In a little while a bridge went out a short distance back of the train. There were flood waters on both sides of the tracks in some places so high they almost touched the ties. Not until 10:30 p. m. were the tracks repaired so the train could proceed, and they arrived in San Francisco more than twenty-six hours late. There they visited with their sister, Mrs. H. P. Smith, until it was time for the Lark, and arrived at their home in Glendale Saturday, the 22nd at 2 p. m. They did not see sunshine from the time they left San Francisco until they returned there, and they were very glad to get back to Sunny California.

HOUSEWIVES' HANDY LIST OF SUBSTITUTES

Our European allies will need more food from America during the coming year than in 1917, according to a report issued today by the United States Food Administration for California. As the weeks go by, America will be called upon more and more to share her supplies with France, England, Italy and Belgium, whose civilian populations and armies depend for nourishment to a large extent on the food saved in the American household. This surplus can be created only through decreased consumption of meats, sugar, fats and wheat products and substitution therefor of foods which cannot be shipped so well.

In the rush of preparing meals the housewife finds it difficult sometimes to think of the substitute needed. Herewith is a small, comprehensive list prepared by the food administration and designed to hang in the kitchen cabinet or on the wall to be used for ready reference:

Meat Substitutes

Poultry,
Rabbit
Fish,
Eggs,
Cheese dishes,
Baked beans,
Bean loaf,
Nut loaf,
Bean soup,
Milk soup,
Chowders,
Milk.

Wheat Bread Substitutes

Corn bread,
Brown bread,
Oatcakes.
Buckwheat cakes,
Hominy,
Potato Biscuit,
Rye bread,
Potatoes,
Rice,
Graham bread.

tration of his point he instanced the effect of a call to arms at the camp last week after the men had gone to their barracks and for the most part were asleep. Within two and a half minutes, he declared, thirty thousand men stood in company rank at attention, ready for any service to which they might be called.

"Next to the spirit of readiness," said he, "I have been impressed with their spirit of patriotism. In times past, when war has come suddenly young men have responded light heartedly, frequently entering with merely the spirit of adventure, that they might share in the enthusiasm and interest of a great war; but not so with the boy of 1917. For more than three years this terrible war has been going on in Europe and they know they are being called to go forth into the most awful struggle this world has ever known in all its history. They are not going with light hearts or without having weighed consequences. They have looked all the horrors of modern warfare in the face and yet with set jaws they are ready to go and if need be to give their lives for their country. There is no hatred of the Germans in their hearts. They are going because, if this terrible thing must be done, they are willing to suffer anything that the world may be freed from Prussianism.

"I have been deeply impressed with their religious attitude. Into the hearts of officers and soldiers has come a realization that what is before them is more terrible than anything they have ever known before, and they are anxious to talk about God and the Great Beyond.

"The spirit of the soldier boy of 1917 is a religious spirit, the spirit of readiness and the spirit of determination to win the war. We who stay at home need have no fear that the soldier boy of 1917 will fall short of living up to the glorious heritage which has come down to him, and I pity the Germans when they have to meet such boys as these."

The last numbers of this very enjoyable program were a solo by Dr. Henry R. Harrower who sang Gounod's beautiful "Nazareth" with fine expression, and then, before being dismissed, the audience united in singing one verse of America. Mr. Ricksecker furnished the organ accompaniment for most of the vocal numbers and contributed in no small degree to the success of the entertainment.

YEOMEN DANCES

Tropico Yeomen are still determined to have their two dances even if they do come pretty close together. Their regular monthly dance will be given at the usual time, which falls this month on Friday evening, December 28th. They will also give another dance on New Year's eve to watch the death of 1917 and welcome 1918.

Christmas eve was celebrated with an entertainment given at Bolton Hall by the young people of the C. E. Society. The evening was given over entirely to the young people, who in their rendition of the "Twins' Christmas Present" as well as other plays, given only as happy children can give was surely a treat to the old and young alike. Of course old Santa made merry the children with sundry packages of good things, the older ones going away with the thought, what would Christmas be without the children?

The Woman's Club sent in a fine donation to the "Parent-Teacher Association" of Los Angeles on Friday of last week. A box and large package of clothing beside the "Christmas basket" that contained two cans of peaches, two of pears, one of nectarines, one of plum butter, three of jelly and two of tomatoes. Added to this was three packages of coffee, 4 packages of rice, 1 package of tea, one package of pink beans, one of sugar, two sacks of flour, twelve cans of milk, two cans of beans, three cans of soup, four of fruit, 1 package of macaroni and a large box of raisins. The ladies wish to thank all those who have contributed to this Christmas gift, knowing that many in our own land are in need of the Christmas cheer, as well as those abroad. Miss Elizabeth Brissenden also sent in three large sacks of clothing. The Richardson Transfer company kindly delivered the things free of charge.

The Red Cross Relief Club postponed its meetings until after the holidays. Plenty of work is still on hand and many have taken garments home to make during the week. Another large donation is ready to be shipped to Los Angeles.

Speedy—Efficient—Economical Makeshift—Unreliable—Costly Slow—Uncertain—Costly

Today,—8 out of 10 merchants need motor trucks and don't realize it;—that's why their business 8 times out of 10 is falling behind their competitors,—for want of motor trucks.

When you realize what a motor truck will do for your business, don't make the mistake of taking on the burden of too big a truck; don't buy a makeshift, and don't wait too long to buy.

To-day you can get a Maxwell One-Ton, Worm-Drive Truck for several hundred dollars less than you can buy any other one-ton truck of equal specifications. How long this low price will last, no one can tell.

We expect to sell Maxwell trucks at a premium in a few months.

Maxwell Truck Costs Less To Operate

Besides this lowest first cost, a Maxwell Truck has the lowest upkeep cost of any real truck, even lower than horses.

—it uses very much less gasoline per mile, with or without load,

—it weighs hundreds of pounds less than any other one-ton truck,

—is therefore easier on tires than any other one-ton truck,

—is just as strong and enduring as the heaviest one-ton truck made.

Maxwell Truck Immediately Lowers Delivery Costs

The Maxwell One-Ton, Worm-Drive Truck has power enough and the chassis strength enough for a bigger, heavier truck.

Its rugged, sturdy chassis, from its reserve-powered motor to its unbreakable rear axle, is built for endurance and dependability.

It has the speed and ability to get there and back, that is not possible in a heavier truck, or with horses.

Its spare parts cost very little.

—and it will increase your delivery efficiency and immediately lower your delivery costs at least fifty per cent.

The MAXWELL ONE-TON, WORM-DRIVE TRUCK is the only truck for you to buy—its efficiency, endurance, low first-cost, and low operating cost break all previous truck records.

Come in quick and see for yourself the figures on Maxwell trucking and operating costs that are the wonder of the transportation world. Cash or easy terms while our allotment lasts.

One Ton Chassis, $985; Chassis with Cab and Windshield, $1025; Combination Box Body, $1035; Combination Box Stake Body with Cab and Windshield, $1075; Stake Gate Body with Cab and Windshield, $1080; Express Canopy Body, $1095. F. O. B. Detroit
